

HOW MANY DAYS WILL IT TAKE TO EAT YOUR WAY AROUND A PINNACLE CLASS SHIP?

Excerpts from Holland America Cruise Blog

Holland America Line serves up an incredible variety of dining venues that range from the casual Lido Market to elegant Pinnacle Grill, and everything in-between. While all ships have the Dining Room, Pinnacle Grill and Canaletto options, our Pinnacle Class ships expand some specialty options, like a stand-alone Rudi's Sel de Mer, Grand Dutch Cafe, Nami Sushi and Tamarind. For all of you foodies who like to try it all, how many days would it take for you to experience each venue for different meals ... and some snacks?

The answer is SIX days! The idea is to try a different venue each day for a different meal, so you might dine at New York Deli & Pizza more than once, but you'll go for a breakfast bagel one day, a Reuben sandwich for lunch the next day and a pizza another day.

Are you up for the challenge next time you cruise on Rotterdam, Nieuw Statendam or Koningsdam? Follow our guidelines and you can experience each eatery, some more than once!

DAY 1:

Breakfast in New York Deli & Pizza: Do you want an everything bagel with cream cheese or something more hearty like salmon? Have yours made to order for breakfast.

Lunch in Lido Market: Head to the Distant Lands station for stir-fry, grab some fries and fresh fruit. Add a personalized salad from Wild Harvest and you're ready to go!

Snack at Gelato: Our gelato is made on board in a variety of perfectly crafted flavors, so pick one scoop or two in a cup or cone.

Dinner in the Dining Room: Our menus change nightly, and you're sure to find something new to try or an old favorite during this multicourse — from boneless lamb loin en crouete to rosemary roasted chicken, as well as regionally inspired dishes and vegetarian options.

DAY 2:

Dinner at Tamarind: Explore the culinary traditions of Southeast Asia, China and Japan. Will it be wok-seared lobster and shrimp, Chinese five spice baby back ribs or Panang red curry coconut chicken? Don't forget the mango posset for dessert.

DAY 3:

Breakfast in your stateroom with Room Service: Sleep in and have breakfast delivered to your stateroom so you can enjoy fresh fruit, hot cereal, pastries and perhaps a mimosa on the verandah.
